Brickell may seem an odd location for a Champagne-hued brasserie that also boasts a first-rate bar, market, bakery and raw bar (talk about a one-stop shop). And yet it's exactly what the hood has been missing — a sophisticated yet accessible cafe perfect for a quick lunch, romantic date or dinner with friends. The artisanal cheese menu (a rarity these days) is not to be missed, and creates the ideal opener for chef Jean Paul Lourdes' expansive menu. After roast chicken with a savory lemon glaze, order a vanilla profiterole for the table and a handful of sea-salt caramels for the road.
